DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4, 7-10, 13, and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yagi (U.S Pat # 4,667,270).

Regarding claim 1, Yagi discloses a removable visual structure (Figure 1, elements 10, 18) comprising:

A removable connection portion (18); and

A visual indication portion (10) coupled to the removable connection portion, wherein the visual indication structure portion is non-removably coupled to the removable connection portion, wherein the visual indication structure can be removably attached to a printed circuit board (Figure 1).

Regarding claim 2, Yagi discloses a removable visual indication structure comprises an LED (Figure 1, element 10).

Regarding claim 3, Yagi discloses that the LED comprises a surface mount LED (Figure 1, element 10).

Regarding claim 4, Yagi discloses that the removable visual structure wherein the removable connection portion comprises a surface mount connector (Figure 1, element 18).

Regarding claim 7, Yagi discloses a removable visual indication structure for use with a printed circuit board (Figure 1, elements 10, 18, 36) comprising:

A removable connector (18) adapted to be attached to the printed circuit board (36); and at least one visual indicator (10) coupled to the removable connector.

Regarding claim 8, Yagi discloses the visual indication structure comprises an LED (Figure 1, element 10).

Regarding claim 9, Yagi discloses a removable visual indication structure wherein the LED comprises a surface mount LED (Figure 1, element 10).

Regarding claim 10, Yagi discloses a removable visual indication structure wherein the removable connector comprises a surface mount connector (Figure 1, element 18).

Regarding claims 13, 15-17, Yagi discloses a printed circuit board system (Figure 1) comprising;

A printed circuit board (element 36);

At least one pin coupled to the printed circuit board (element 20 between elements 42); and at least one removable visual indication structure coupled to the at least one pin (element 10).

At least one removable visual indication structure comprises: a removable connector (element 18) adapted to be attached to the printed circuit board; and at least one visual indicator (element 10) coupled to the removable connector.

At least one visual indicator comprises an LED (element 10).

The LED comprises a surface mount LED (element 10).

The removable connector comprises a surface mount connector (element 18).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5-6, 11-12, 18-19, and 20-25 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yagi.

Yagi does not disclose that the LED is soldered to the surface mount connector, however, it involves no invention to cast in one piece an article which has formerly been cast in two pieces and put together. Howard v. Detroit Stove Works, 150 U.S. 164 (1893).

Regarding claims 20-25, the method steps are necessitated by a light indicator structure to a printed circuit board as it is disclosed by Yagi as mentioned above.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10-16-02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that the visual indication portion of Yagi is removably coupled to the removable connection.

Yagi discloses a removable support for an indication portion having a non-removable LED fixed therein, note Yagi's specification, column 1, lines 65-68 and column 2, lines 1-10. Yagi states that the LED is held securely in position by the inward restoring forces of the gripper arms.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

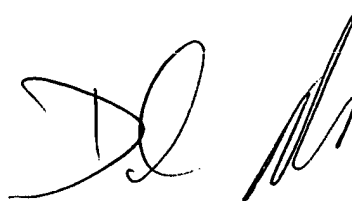

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
